MCI CENTER

MCI CENTER

MCI Center

In keeping with the 24-year tradition of innovation established by his US Airways Arena in Landover, Maryland, Abe Pollin opened the "state-of-the art" MCI Center on December 2, 1997. The building is home to the Wizards, the NHL's Washington Capitals, WNBA Washington Mystics plus big-time entertainment, cultural and sporting events. MCI Center, located at 7th and F Streets NW, have recently hosted the 2002 NCAA Men's Basketball Eastern Regional First/Second Rounds, Britney Spears, Janet Jackson, and countless others. They will host the 2003 World Figure Skating Championships and the 2005 ACC Men's basketball tournament.

MCI Center welcomes area residents and millions of tourists to a unique combination of sports, entertainment and interactivity every day, all day.

PREMIUM SEATING

Featuring 2,500 club seats and 114 luxury suites, MCI Center's Premium Seating offers unparalleled views of the Wizards rise to the NBA's elite and the Capitals drive to the Stanley Cup as well as the exclusivity, amenities and prestige that accompany accommodations of this caliber.

Luxury suites begin just 19 rows from a Michael Jordan to Jerry Stackhouse no-look pass and feature all the comforts of home in addition to providing access to every MCI Center event (approximately 200 annually) including sports, family shows and concerts. Each tastefully-appointed private suite contains 12-18 theatre-style seats with remote control television, phone, refrigerator and icemaker, private restroom, individually controlled heat and air conditioning. Two underground parking passes accompany your suite along with exclusive membership to the Acela Club Restaurant and Lounge.

Fans can also watch the Wizards from the comfort of 21" extra wide club seats. The 2,500 Club Seats are located on a private concourse with its own outside entrance featuring mini-restaurants, private restrooms and the Acela Club, an exclusive restaurant for Premium Seating customers. Club seat holders also have first priority to purchase tickets for other MCI Center events.

MCI CENTER

WIZARDS IDENTITY

After 36 seasons of professional basketball, Washington's NBA franchise introduced new logos and colors to accommodate the change of the team's nickname, as the team tipped off the 1997-98 season as the Washington Wizards. The new Wizards logos, created by the National Basketball Association, in collaboration with Nike, contain three vibrant colors: blue, black and bronze. The color blend represents the explosive energy that the basketball club brings to life and is synonymous with the colors that are prevalent in the logos of the Washington Mystics, Abe Pollin's other professional franchise.

"We wanted the NBA to design something sleek and progressive, showing action while giving the logo a classic look," said Chairman of Washington Sports and Entertainment Abe Pollin. "We feel this logo does all of these things and we are very proud of our new look."

The team's primary logo features a wizard leaping outstretched past the moon while holding a "burst of magic" in his right hand and spinning a basketball in his left hand. The Wizard, with a "W" emblazoned on his chest, is classic and precise. The "burst of magic" symbolizes the strength of the franchise and the spinning of the ball represents the team's talent. The moon takes on the appearance of a basketball and stands for the heights to which the franchise hopes to rise.

The secondary logo uses a modern, aggressive font to create the letters "dc." It places emphasis on the team's new home, at MCI Center, in the nation's capital. The Wizards wordmarks further illustrate the aura of energy and power with their bold, custom font. Through a licensing agreement with the NBA, Nike has obtained the right to produce authentic uniforms and courtside apparel for the Wizards, while Champion will create replica jerseys for the Wizards. All Wizards merchandise is available at Modell's Sporting Goods, the Wizards apparel headquarters, and through Aramark at 1-202-628-3200, ext. 6716.

The name change marks the third time in franchise history that the team has altered its nickname. After being created as the Chicago Packers in 1961, the club became the Chicago Zephyrs a year later. In 1963, Abe Pollin headed a group of investors which purchased the organization, moved the team to Baltimore and named the club the Baltimore Bullets.

The name depicts energy and an omnipresent power and brings to light the wise and magical nature of the team. It serves as a positive image for both the players and the organization.

"As I have said many times before, this was not an easy decision for me," added Pollin. "The Bullets have been a part of me for many years. But I no longer wanted my team associated with anything with a violent connotation. That's why we changed the name."

Pollin announced his intentions to re-name his basketball club on November 9, 1995, as part of an anti-violence movement. Through promotional partners Boston Market and NBC4, fans were able to vote on their favorite new nickname, and on February 22, 1996, Pollin announced that Wizards would be the club's new moniker. In addition to the new name, logos and colors, the team established a conflict resolution program with a focus on peer mediation and conflict resolution among high-risk teens in the Washington and Baltimore metropolitan areas.

ADMINISTRATION

CHAIRMAN

ABE POLLIN

"We are embarking on a wonderful journey this season. The players that we have obtained this past summer will bring a new excitement to the city of Washington and MCI Center." Abe Pollin

Following the 2001-2002 season, Chairman Abe Pollin completed his 37th year owning the Washington Wizards, the longest tenured owner in the NBA. As Chairman of Washington Sports & Entertainment Limited Partnership, Pollin oversees the operations of the Washington Wizards, Washington Mystics, TicketMaster Washington/Baltimore and the management of MCI Center, US Airways Arena and George Mason University Patriot Center.

Twenty-eight years ago, Abe Pollin moved his NBA team to the Washington area and applied for an NHL franchise. In the time since then, Pollin has seen his teams flourish, brought a WNBA franchise to Washington, built a $200-million, "state-of-the art" sports and entertainment facility and devoted himself to the community in which he lives.
In 1964, when Pollin and two partners purchased the NBA Baltimore Bullets, he had dreams that someday the team would play in a brand-new facility in the Nation's Capital.

When his first arena, the Capital Centre, opened on December 2, 1973, it was what the MCI Center is today - a state-of-the-art sports and entertainment facility that became the standard for new arenas throughout the world. The Capital Centre was built in a record 15 months and boasted a host of unique features including one-of-a-kind luxury suite accommodations and the never-seen-before Telescreen.

After the long years of planning and then building MCI Center, Pollin watched as his dreams came true on December 2, 1997, when a sellout crowd filled MCI Center to watch the Wizards host the arena's first event. Since that time, over 8.2 million people have spun the turnstiles at MCI Center and the downtown area has begun to spring to life.
"Washington has been good to me and I have faith in the future of this city and am in a unique position to help bring positive changes to this area," he said. "I am confident that MCI Center will become the anchor to a revitalized downtown area."

Pollin is the longest-tenured owner in the National Basketball Association and has been at the center of every major issue in the NBA during his time at the helm of the Washington Bullets/Wizards. In 1978, Pollin reached the pinnacle of the NBA as his Bullets, behind the play of Wes Unseld, Elvin Hayes and Bob Dandridge, defeated Seattle and brought a World Championship to Washington. As owner of the Wizards and operator of the Mystics, Pollin has become one of the most respected individuals in the world of professional sports.

As the Wizards completed their first season at MCI Center, Pollin's WNBA franchise, the Washington Mystics, was making history of their own. The Mystics played their MCI Center debut on June 19, 1998, against the Utah Starzz in front of 20,674 fans — the largest crowd ever to attend a women's professional basketball game in the United States.
The sports industry is full of astute businessmen, but what distinguishes Abe Pollin from his peers is his commitment to social responsibility. He possesses a passionate need to give back to the community and has made helping people a way of life. His philanthropic and humanitarian endeavors know no bias or boundaries, which is evident by the numerous public service and community organizations that he selflessly devotes himself to.

CHAIRMAN

Pollin serves as the Chairman of the Advisory Council, is Honorable Chairman of the Salvation Army's Leadership Committee for Centers of Hope and Co-Chair of the Community Capital Campaign for N Street Village in the District. He is also the co-sponsor of the "I Have a Dream Foundation" and personally guaranteed college education for 55 students. Upon the move to MCI Center, Pollin established Abe's Table, is a weekly meal program hosted in the Calvary Baptist Church, located just one block from MCI Center. Pollin teamed up with Deer Park and Modell's Sporting Goods to initiate Abe's Table in December of 1997 to correspond with the grand opening of MCI Center. Since then, the program has served hot, home-cooked meals to more than 20,000 people in need throughout the MCI Center community.

Over the past year, Pollin has initiated several projects, including the Washington Sports and Entertainment Education Fund established along with Michael Jordan, to provide assistance in furthering the education of the children of the victims of September 11th. Over the summer of 2002, Pollin discovered the plight of Washington, D.C. area children who relied on the D.C. Summer School programs for their meals. With budget cuts in the District, Pollin realized over 22,000 children would be without meals during the week and weekends and quickly began a fundraising campaign to raise $3 million to pay for the food. Pollin then brought together the D.C. School System, America's Second Harvest and the Capital Area Food Bank to design a program to feed the kids.

Not surprisingly, recognition of Pollin's record and accomplishments are just as impressive as the deeds they acknowledge. The last two years have been landmark ones for Pollin, as he has received numerous awards and accolades recognizing his accomplishments in professional sports and contributions to community service. Recently, Pollin has been the recipient of the Distinguished Civilian Service Award, presented by the US Army, the 1996 Robert F. Kennedy-Martin Luther King, Jr. Award, presented by Coalition to Stop Gun Violence, the 1996 United Cerebral Palsy Achievement Award and the 1997 Jewish Leadership Award.

A Washingtonian for most of his life, Pollin and his family moved to the Washington area from Philadelphia when he was eight. He graduated from the George Washington University in 1945 and went to work for his family's construction company for 12 years. In 1957, he launched his own construction company and, as a local contractor, built several large apartment houses and office buildings, one of which featured the first-ever roof-top pool in Washington.

Quick to admit that we are put on earth to do much more than just take care of ourselves, Pollin is a man whose vision is matched only by his willingness to help improve the quality of life in this community and around the world. After 35 years in the business, Pollin continues to bring innovation to the industry and display his knack for accomplishing the "impossible".

Pollin lives in Bethesda, MD with his wife, Irene, a psychotherapist. They are avid travelers and Pollin also enjoys walking and playing tennis. Their oldest son, Robert, lives in Amherst, MA. with his wife and two daughters. Robert is an economics professor at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. The Pollins' younger son, James, owns Leviathan Meeting Innovations in Landover, MD.

PRESIDENT

SUSAN O'MALLEY

"This season will be amazing. Our fans in Washington are in for a huge treat this season, everytime they watch the Wizards." Susan O'Malley

In her tenure with Abe Pollin's Washington Sports and Entertainment organization, Susan O'Malley became the first woman president of an NBA franchise as well as becoming the president of a multi-faceted sports and entertainment company, Washington Sports and Entertainment. As President of Washington Sports and Entertainment, O'Malley oversees the day-to-day operations for the NBA's Washington Wizards, the WNBA's Washington Mystics, MCI Center, Entertainment and New Business Development, Finance, Human Resources, Marketing and Ticketmaster Washington-Baltimore.

Once an intern with the Bullets and Capitals, O'Malley joined the organization in 1986 as the Director of Advertising. Since that time, her meteoric rise to the top of the diverse sports and entertainment firm has been highlighted by numerous groundbreaking achievements in the field of sports and entertaiment marketing.

Her trademark of proactive customer service resurrected the same organization that ranked last to its counterparts in nearly every business category when O'Malley took over the organization. O'Malley began heading operation at a time when the relationship between the front office staff and season ticket holders was virtually non-existent. "They complained that the only time they heard from us was when their invoices were due," said O'Malley.

As a result of the ticket holders concern, O'Malley quickly initiated communication to ensure their voices were heard. Since, the energetic O'Malley has created numerous ideas to form positive relationships with the ticket holders, corporate sponsors and the media.

In addition to delivering superb customer service to ticket holders, she works diligently with her staff to create the best game night promotions to keep fans coming back. "Our current customer is our best customer," said O'Malley.

O'Malley has incorporated a marketing philosophy that provides profitable results, but at the same time generates excitement and visibility to the Wizards and MCI Center. In her first season handling off-court activities, the team experienced the largest ticket revenue year in the history of the franchise. In addition, that year the club achieved the highest renewal rate of season tickets ever by the franchise, including the year following the 1977-78 Championship season. During the 94-95 campaign, the club sold out a franchise record 30 home games and increased the record for average attendance by nearly 2,000 fans.

O'Malley's magic has continued at MCI Center, as over 8.2 million patrons have entered the turnstiles of the Washington, D.C.-based facility through the summer of 2001. In addition to the Wizards and Mystics, O'Malley's marketing team promotes concerts and family shows with over 220 events each year.

"She is brilliant," said Pollin, Chairman of Washington Sports and Entertainment. "She is full of innovative ideas and she works very hard. She sets an example to her staff because she is very, very tough, but very fair."

PRESIDENT

A master motivator by nature, O'Malley fosters a unique, spirited and results-oriented work environment that has been emulated throughout professional sports. While she demands hard work and determination from her staff, she has been rewarded with loyalty – her core management team, assembled by O'Malley when she assumed control of the Wizards, remains in tact 13 years later. O'Malley's motivational methods are hardly a secret, as she has become a popular and often-requested speaker for civic, academic and corporate groups.

O'Malley is a board member of several charitable organizations and foundations and is a strong advocate of community service. For her commitment to youth, O'Malley was the recipient of the Americanism Award from the Alexandria-Olympic Boys and Girls Club in 1997. From a young age, O'Malley has always known her path in life. As a grade school student, she wrote a paper declaring her goal was to run a sports franchise. Although her teacher deemed the goal "unrealistic," O'Malley was not swayed. GENERAL MANAGER

WES UNSELD

"The talent that has been accumulated since the end of last season is endless. This season should prove to be very rewarding." Wes Unseld

Wes Unseld begins his 33rd season with the Washington Wizards and embarks on his seventh as the Wizards' General Manager. The span of Unseld's career is remarkable: a Hall of Fame playing career; over six seasons as head coach; planning, research and execution of the MCI Center; and General Manager of Washington's WNBA Mystics for two seasons. Wes Unseld has been involved in every phase of Abe Pollin's sports and entertainment organization.

Unseld directs the Basketball Operations staff's effort in college and professional scouting, player development, talent evaluation and general operations. Unseld will use his vast NBA experience in the development of the Wizards franchise as it entered the new millenium.

"Wes has been a great asset to this organization since the day he played his first game," said Washington Sports and Entertainment Chairman, Abe Pollin. "Many times through the history of this franchise, I have turned to Wes to lead the way. As we enter a very exciting and important time in the team's development, I can think of no other candidate more appropriate to take us into the future than Wes Unseld. Wes has never let me down in anything he's ever done."

After Unseld's stellar career came to a close in 1981, Pollin recognized the importance of keeping his dedicated, hard-working star in the organization. Unseld was immediately hired by Pollin to serve as a front office executive. Pollin felt that Unseld's winning ways would be a positive force in the day-to-day operation of the organization.

Unseld has devoted a great deal of time towards making special appearances. He became one of the NBA's most popular and prolific speakers. In addition, he worked as an analyst for local television telecasts and was directly involved in sponsorship and community projects.

Prior to the 1987-88 season, Head Coach Kevin Loughery saw Unseld as a great motivator and invited Unseld to extend his basketball knowledge to the team as an assistant coach. Just 27 games into the season, with the team struggling at 8-19, Pollin released Loughery of his coaching duties and selected Unseld to replace him. The team responded dramatically to Unseld's leadership as head coach, compiling a 30-25 record during the remainder of the regular season, and bringing Washington into the playoffs. Unseld went on to complete six more seasons as Washington's head coach.

The 6-foot-7 Unseld, who was best known as a player for his bone-jarring picks and full-court outlet passes earned two All-America honors while playing at the University of Louisville. In 1968, he was chosen by Baltimore with the second selection in the first round of the NBA Draft.

Adapting to the rigors of the NBA came without difficulty for Unseld. Success came immediately, as Unseld's first NBA season graced him with not only Rookie-of-the Year honors, but the League's Most Valuable Player award as well. Only Wilt Chamberlain has been able to win both awards in the same season. Unseld was also selected to play in the NBA All-Star game that season, his first of five appearances.

Unseld also helped turn around the fortunes of the team as well. The Bullets improved 21 games in his rookie campaign. During the Unseld era, the franchise compiled a .580 winning percentage, compared with a .364 percentage prior to his days as a player. He was perhaps the greatest force in sending the Bullets to 12 consecutive playoff appearances, highlighted by the 1978 World Championship.

In the process, Unseld achieved numerous milestones and accomplishments. In the NBA record books, he retired seventh all-time in rebounding, is one of 24 players, entering the 1998-99 season, who have both scored 10,000 points and pulled down 10,000 rebounds, and is the franchises all-time leader in games played, minutes, assists and rebounds. On May 3, 1988, he was inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame in his first year of eligibility. In 1996, Unseld was named as one of the 50 greatest players in NBA history.

Unseld's achievements on the court are not all that he has given to the public. He and his wife Connie opened up a school in Baltimore that provides an excellent education to Baltimore youngsters. Connie, a school teacher during the 1970s, was frustrated with the education that children were receiving, and wanted to do all that she could to help remedy the situation.

The dream of the Unseld School became reality and has been an important part of the community ever since. The Unseld School, celebrating its 22nd year of scholastic excellence, serves 200 students from pre-school through eighth grade with a student-teacher ratio of 10:1.

Unseld has a slew of other notable achievements. In 1975, he was the first recipient of the Walter Kennedy Citizenship Award, which is given annually to the NBA player or coach making the greatest contribution to his community. Unseld also served as Vice President of the NBA Players Association.

Wes and Connie have two children, Kimberly and Westley, and reside in Westminster, MD.

In the spring of 1999 Ted Leonsis and Dick Patrick spearheaded the creation of Lincoln Holdings, the partnership that changed the face of professional sports and entertainment in the Washington, D.C. area. The investment group, which now consists of eight of the areas most dynamic business and community leaders, announced the purchase of the Washington Capitals and a minority interest in Washington Sports & Entertainment LP (WSELP) on May 12, 1999.

Through the group's ownership stake in WSELP, Lincoln Holdings also holds interests in several other D.C.-based sports and entertainment ventures, including the Washington Wizards (NBA), Washington Mystics (WNBA), MCI Center, Capital Center and Baltimore/Washington TicketMaster.

Lincoln Holdings has expanded since its inception to include a who's who of Washington-area businessmen, bringing a wealth of success and knowledge to the group. Leonsis, who is chairman and majority owner, and Patrick, who serves as team president, are the original partners from the formation of the group in 1999. In early 2000 Raul Fernandez, chairman and CEO of Proxicom, a leading Internet consulting and e-business development company, and basketball legend Michael Jordan joined Lincoln Holdings as partners, with Jordan leaving the group in the fall of 2001 to resume his NBA career.

Further additions to the group were made in October 2001 when it was announced that Jack Davies, senior advisor to the president of America Online Inc., Richard Kay, chairman and CEO of OTG Software, a leading data storage and access software company, and George Stamas, member of the Capitals Board of Directors, were joining Lincoln Holdings.

The final modifications to the ownership group were made when Richard Fairbank and Jeong Kim became partners towards the end of the 2001-02 season. Fairbank, founder of Capital One Financial Corporation, one of the fastest growing financial companies in the world, joined the group in February 2002. Kim, who joined in April 2002, is founder of Yurie Systems Inc., later selling the company to Lucent Technologies. Currently Kim is a professor in the Clark School of Engineering at the University of Maryland.

In the first three seasons under the guidance of Lincoln Holdings ownership, the Capitals have made a commitment to making the organization one of the premiere franchises in the NHL. Whether it is making the games more affordable to families, improving the game presentation or making vast improvements on the ice, the Capitals have followed the "Fan-Centric" philosophy of sports management.

The Capitals have seen vast improvements in attendance and season ticket sales during the group's tenure, culminating in a franchise record season attendance in 2001-02 of more than 710,000 guests at MCI Center, ranking third in the NHL with a 12% increase when compared with the previous year. In three short years the team has also become the league's fastest growing season-ticket base, more than doubling sales since the 1998-99 season.

ROD HIGGINS
Assistant General Manager

Rod Higgins begins his third season with the Wizards. Prior to joining the Wizards staff, he spent six seasons as an assistant coach with the Golden State Warriors. His primary responsibilities are colaborating with General Manger Wes Unseld with all basketball decisions, including transactions and trades, working with player personnel, and scouting.

Higgins has been in the NBA for 20 years; the first 13 years playing in the NBA with seven different teams, including seven seasons with the Warriors, and seven years as a coach and front office executive. He moved to the bench as a coach on November 19, 1994. Higgins was drafted by the Chicago Bulls in 1982 as its second-round draft choice (31st overall) out of Fresno State. Higgins signed with Golden State as a free agent in 1986, and after six seasons with the Warriors, Higgins played one year with Sacramento and Cleveland before making his return to Golden State for the 1994-95 season. He averaged 9.0 points, 3.6 rebounds, and 1.6 assists in his 779 games during his career.

DOUG COLLINS

"We have a whole different look this season. With the team that we have assembled, I can see us doing great things in the future." Doug Collins

Doug Collins begins his second season with the Washington Wizards. Collins, a seven-year veteran of the NBA coaching ranks, has compiled a 295-242 edge in the win column and took his teams to the playoffs his first five years of his career.

The 50-year old Collins began his NBA coaching career as head coach for the Chicago Bulls, joining the organization on May 23, 1986 and coached the Bulls for three straight seasons. He coached them to their best record (50-32) in 15 years during the 1987-88 season. He also brought the team into the playoffs three straight seasons, losing in the Eastern Conference Finals to Detroit, 4-2, during the 1988-89 season.

In his first year as the Pistons head coach, Collins engineered a franchise record-tying 18-game Pistons turnaround in 1995-96, guiding Detroit to 46 wins and his first playoff berth in four seasons. In the following season, the team won 54 games, the third highest total in Pistons history. The 1996-97 team also set a Detroit all-time record, winning 40 games in just 53 tries, a mark faster than any team in Pistons history. Collins won his 200th NBA contest on December 15, 1996.

Because of his success, Collins was rewarded with the opportunity to coach the Eastern Conference in the 1997 All-Star Game. He coached two of his own All-Star players, Joe Dumars and Grant Hill, to a 132-120 victory over the Western Conference.

The Benton, IL, native, earned a reputation as strong advocate of defense as his Pistons teams ranked second in the NBA for two straight seasons. Detroit yielded just 92.9 points per game in 1995-96, a number almost 13 points better than the team's defensive average in 1994-95. The team one-upped that mark the following season, allowing three fewer points per game (88.9).

Collins served not only as the Piston's bench coach, but also as the head of basketball operations. He directed all basketball related matters, which included the hiring of the entire basketball administration and all decisions regarding the team's coaching and scouting staffs. He worked with Vice President of Basketball Operations Rick Sund to guide the team through all of its scouting assignments, draft selections, trades and free agent signings.

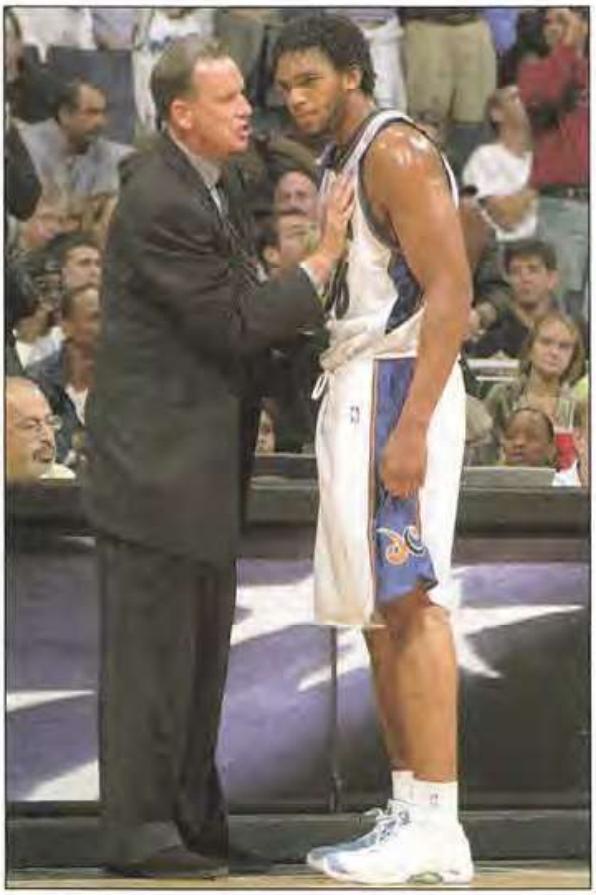
Collins has earned a reputation as a teacher and his record of working with young potential stars is impeccable. In Chicago, Jordan was beginning his third year in the NBA when Collins took the helm. Scottie Pippen was a rookie during Collins' second year coaching in Chicago. In Detroit he worked with All-Star Grant Hill, but his pride comes with his work with players that were not in the top half of the first round of the NBA Draft. He worked with Aaron McKie (17th), Don Reid (58th), Theo Ratliff (18th), Jerome Williams (26th) early in their careers. Ratliff was named to the 2001 NBA All-Star Game, but couldn't play because of injury.

He began his coaching career at the University of Pennsylvania in 1981 as an assistant coach under Bob Weinhauer. Collins worked with Weinhauer in the same role at Arizona State for two seasons beginning in 1982.

DOUG COLLINS

Collins served as a NBA analyst on NBC for four seasons. He joined NBC Sports March 17, 1998, teaming up with Bob Costas. He later joined with play-by-play announcer Marv Albert to make up the network's top NBA broadcast team. Widely regarded as television's finest basketball analyst, Collins most recently provided insight and in-depth commentary as NBC's men's basketball analyst during the 2000 Sydney Olympic Games, his first as a broadcaster.

Collins also earned all-star status as an NBA analyst for six years at Turner Broadcasting. His work at Turner earned him nominations for two Cable ACE Awards and one Emmy nomination. He earned Emmy nominations for his work at NBC in 1998 and 2000.



Drafted by the Philadelphia 76ers out of Illinois State with the first overall selection in the 1973 NBA Draft, Collins went on to star in the NBA for eight seasons, all with the Sixers. He scored 7,427 points, averaging 17.9 points per game and was selected to play in four all-star games (1976-79), but because of injury did not play in 1979. While at Illinois State, Collins starred on the 1972 United States' Olympic Team, earning a silver medal at the Munich Games. He sank two key free throws in the final seconds before the Soviets scored their controversial game-winning basket.

An accurate shooter, the 6'6" guard shot .501 from the field in his NBA career, posting his best season in 1977-78, averaging 19.7 points and 4.1 assists per game while shooting .526 from the field. He averaged 21.5 points per game in 32 playoff games and led Philadelphia to the Eastern Conference Championship in 1977, before the team fell to Portland in six games.

Doug, a graduate of Illinois State University, and his wife Kathy have two children, Chris, who is an assistant basketball coach at Duke University, and daughter Kelly, who is a fifth grade teacher in Allentown, PA.

WIZARDS COMMUNITY RELATIONS

OUR HOUSE, OUR RULES

The Wizards message to area youth is to "Keep Violence Out of Their Community!" The Our House, Our Rules program encourages schools and community organizations to promote non-violence in their school and community by entering the Wizards non-violence contest. Winners are chosen based on creativity, originality and the impact they make on their community. Winning groups receive a Wizards prize.

KIDS 'N KOPS

The Wizards created the Kids 'n Kops program to foster positive relationships between police officers and area youth. DC, Fairfax County, Montgomery County and Prince Georges County police officers are supplied with player trading cards. Each card features a Wizards player photo on the front and a conflict resolution tip on the back, compliments of the G.R.E.A.T. program. Children receive a card each time they introduce themselves to an officer. After collecting a complete set of six player cards and one mascot card, the child wins a Wizards prize.

EVERYBODY WINS!

Everybody Wins! DC, Power Lunch Program is a unique literacy and mentoring program devoted to promoting children's literacy and love of learning through shared reading experiences with adults. Once a week, Washington Sports and Entertainment staff volunteers to meet with their student partners at Walker Jones Elementary School to share conversation and good books over school lunch. This program is conducted in 27 public elementary schools and impacts over 4,000 children in at-risk communities in the Washington Metropolitan area. The goal is to reach children while they are young and stimulate their interest in reading and writing.

PICK & ROLL

The benefits of reading last a lifetime. To foster this idea the Washington Wizards and Mystics have teamed up with Sprite, to encourage Baltimore-Washington area elementary school students to PICK a book and ROLL with it. PICK & ROLL is a reading incentive program geared towards fourth, fifth and sixth grade students. The Wizards challenge approximately 35,000 children in over 350 schools to read 10 books between October and November. Students who complete the requirements receive a Wizards/Mystics prize.

HOLIDAY DRIVES

The Wizards will host a canned food drive at the November 16th Wizards game at MCI Center. Fans are encouraged to donate a non-perishable food item. All food items will be dispersed to households in the district through Bread For The City. The annual toy drive will be held at the December 10th Wizards game at MCI Center. Fans are asked to donate new, unwrapped toys to be donated to those less fortunate in the DC area. The Wizards also host a warm coat drive at an announced Wizards game. Fans are encouraged to donate new or used, cleaned coats, hats and scarves for those in need.

WRAP

The Wizards and Mystics join the Washington Regional Alcohol Program (WRAP) to promote safe and sober driving during high-risk times, such as, St. Patrick's Day, Independence Day, and the winter holidays. In an effort to keep the roads safe during the holidays, WRAP sponsors the SoberRide program, a free taxi service to would-be impaired drivers, as well as, Sobriety Check Points, located around the D.C. area. The Wizards and Mystics donate game tickets to be distributed to volunteers; participating taxi drivers and those persons who pass sobriety tests at any of the WRAP check points.

ABE'S TABLE

The Wizards continue to team up with Calvary Baptist Church to provide home cooked meals to DC's hungry. Mr. Pollin, Modell's Sporting Goods and presenting sponsor, US Food Service, fund a lunch program every Tuesday and Friday. During the month of November, the Wizards players, coaches and staff serve a Thanksgiving Day meal to the homeless and working poor. Through Abe's Table, over 400 meals are served per week to those in need.

POLLIN AWARD

The Wizards invite local middle and high schools and community organizations to nominate their top volunteers for the Pollin Award. The Pollin Award is given to individuals who show an exemplary level of dedication to servicing his or her community. Each winner of the award receives two tickets to a designated Wizards home game and is recognized in game.

COURT RESURFACING

Since 1992, the Wizards and Mystics, through their Court Resurfacing Program, have resurfaced 17 basketball courts in the Washington-metropolitan area. With the help of Coca-Cola and Nike, the program provides children with safe and clean places to play basketball and stay fit. To celebrate the new courts, the Wizards and Mystics conduct a basketball clinic for neighborhood kids. Sites completed in 2001-2002 were Walker-Jones Elementary School in Northwest, DC, and Bald Eagle Recreation Center in Southwest, DC.

FAMILY TO FAMILY GIFT DELIVERY

A December ritual, Washington Sports and Entertainment Chairman Abe Pollin, President Susan O'Malley, and General Manager Wes Unseld, load up a 50-person passenger coach bus with toys, books, clothes, gift certificates and 27" TV's from Sears, all purchased by the players and the organization. The bus makes stops at the homes of underprivileged families, assigned to the Wizards through the Bread For The City organization, a non-profit organization that houses five program areas, medical clinic, social services, legal counseling, food and clothing, for low income residents of the district.

FOSTER CARE HOLIDAY PARTY

In December, over 1,000 of the area's foster children from the DC Department of Children and Family Services celebrate the holidays with the Wizards, Mystics and Mayor Anthony Williams. The kids enjoy activities such as the giant slide, a moon bounce, a bungee jump obstacle course, face painting, a clown, and a magician, as well as, an abundance of food, including hot dogs, popcorn, chicken tenders and plenty of sweets. The children also have the opportunity to read books, get autographs, have their picture taken and even dance with the Wizards and Mystics players.

NBA COMMUNITY RELATIONS

The NBA is strongly committed to creating programs that improve the quality of life for all people, with a special emphasis on reading and youth programs. Each year the league, its players and its teams donate millions of dollars and hundreds of hours to charities and community outreach programs. Through its extensive outreach programs, team foundations, and public service announcements, the NBA is deeply involved in addressing a variety of important social issues in its communities.

Read to Achieve is a year-round program designed to help young people develop a life-long love for reading that reaches an estimated 50 million children a year. It is the most extensive educational outreach initiative in the history of professional sports. In addition to a year-round promotional campaign, the effort includes the annual donation of more than 300,000 books through a variety of reading events and book fairs, as well as the creation of locally based Reading and Learning Centers.

With the support of long-time national partners such as RIF and Scholastic Inc., the NBA has created more than 30 Reading and Learning Centers throughout North America in an effort to provide access to reading materials and technology to young people everywhere.

Integral components of the program are national and local All-Star Reading Teams comprised of current and former NBA and WNBA players and other members of the NBA family, who promote reading efforts through in-arena events, Public Service Announcements, and community appearances throughout the year.

In recognition of the community outreach and commitment to service of our players, the league has established the Community Assist Award, which honors players whose efforts in the community are truly outstanding. To honor the NBA Player that reflects the passion that the league and its players have for their communities, all 29 NBA teams nominate a player for the Community Assist Award which is presented monthly throughout the year.

Awarded annually at the conclusion of each league's regular season, the NBA and WNBA Sportsmanship Awards recognize players who embody the spirit of sportsmanship. The NBA makes a $25,000 donation on behalf of the NBA Sportsmanship Award honoree, and a $10,000 donation on behalf of each of the three divisional awardees, to the charitable organization of their choice.

The NBA also supports the efforts of Prevent Child Abuse America, honors the Martin Luther King Holiday, Black History Month, Gallaudet University, the Thurgood Marshall Scholarship Fund and the National Wheelchair Basketball Association.

TEAM NOTES

THE "JORDAN EFFECT": The 2001-2002 season was highlighted by the return of Michael Jordan to the NBA. Jordan provided the Wizards and the NBA with many memorable moments from scoring his 30,000th career point on January 4 versus Chicago, to setting the record for most points scored at MCI Center, when he tallied 51 on December 29 in a victory over Charlotte. Even after a three-year layoff, Jordan showed he was still unparalleled when it came to late game heroics, hitting game-winning shots at Phoenix (2/15) and at two of his favorite backdrops at New York (12/22) and Cleveland (1/31). While he finished the season with the highest scoring average for any player to take the floor in an NBA game at his age, perhaps Jordan's greatest feat of 2001-2002 was guiding the Wizards to a 37-45 record, an 18-game improvement from a year ago. His return also led the Wizards to rise from 22nd in the league in regular season attendance to number one as the Wizards sold out 79 of the 82 games they played, including all 41 home games at MCI Center.

JORDAN TOPS 30,000: Michael Jordan scored his 30,000th career point on January 4th versus Chicago, becoming just the fourth player in NBA history to top the plateau. The only other players to surpass the mark in league history are Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Karl Malone, and Wilt Chamberlain. Jordan scored his 30,000th point on a free throw with 5:25 to play in the second quarter of his 960th career game. Chamberlain, who was the fastest of the four to reach the milestone, scored his 30,000th point in his 941st game.

ENCORE PERFORMANCE: Michael Jordan followed up his record setting performance against Charlotte (12/29) with 45 points and 10 rebounds vs. New Jersey (12/31). Jordan nearly set another record by scoring 22 consecutive points, one point shy of the NBA record 23 consecutive points Jordan scored vs. Atlanta on April 16, 1987. Jordan, who left the game at the 2:52 mark of the fourth quarter, was five points shy becoming the only player to have two back-to-back 50-point games in the last 37 years.

FINE AT THIRTY-NINE: Michael Jordan celebrated his 39th birthday on February 17 and his 22.9 points per game are the most ever for a player age 39 or over, and the most for any guard 35 or over. The highest scoring average for any guard aged 35 or over was held by Reggie Miller who averaged 18.9 points per game for Indiana last season at age 35. Clyde Drexler averaged 18.4 points per game for Houston at age 35 in the 1997-98 season. Julius Erving averaged 18.1 points per game for Philadelphia at age 35 in the 1985-86 season.

BACK-TO-BACK 40's FOR MJ: Michael Jordan scored 41 points vs. Phoenix on January 26, following his 40-point performance vs. Cleveland (1/24). That was the second time last season that Jordan had two consecutive games of 40 or more points. The 41 points also marked the 170th game in his career that Jordan has topped the 40-point plateau. Jordan scored 40 or more points five times last season, and the Wizards were 4-1 in those games. In addition to two 40-point games, Jordan scored 51 points in a 107-90 win over Charlotte (12/29), 45 two nights later in a 98-76 win over New Jersey, and 44 points in a 101-92 loss to Utah on November 16. All of Jordan's 40-point games last season came at the MCI Arena.

TONTO AND THE LONE RANGER: The Wizards were a perfect 10-0 last season when both Michael Jordan and Richard Hamilton scored 20 or more points in the same game.

DC TURNAROUND: Washington completed an 18 game turnaround last season with their 37 victories. The best turnaround in franchise history is 21 games set by the 1968-69 Baltimore Bullets who finished 57-25 after posting a 36-46 mark the previous season. Doug Collins is no stranger to turnarounds, having engineered the Detroit Pistons to a 46-36 record during his first season in 1995-96 after the team finished 28-54 the previous year. The 18-game turnaround tied a Pistons franchise record. In his second season with the Chicago Bulls in 1987-88, Collins guided the teaqm to a 50-32 mark, then the best finish for the team in 15 years. The Bulls were 32-50 in 1985-86.

FULL HOUSE: The Wizards recorded a franchise record 41 home sellouts last season, marking the first time in team history that the club sold out all 41 home games. Washington also led the NBA in attendance for the first time in franchise history, having played in front of sold out arenas in 79-82 games. The only three games that did not sell out were at Golden State (3/18), at Charlotte (4/5), and at New Jersey (4/9), three of the top four in lowest home attendance in the NBA. The Wizards broke the franchise record for home sellouts with their 31st home sellout vs. Chicago on March 5th. Washington recorded the orginal franchise record of 30 home sellouts during the 1994-95 season.

TEAM NOTES

COLLINS NAMED COACH OF THE MONTH: Wizards Head Coach Doug Collins was named the NBA's Coach of the Month for December after leading Washington to an 11-4 record that tied the mark for the best December in team history. Collins also led the Wizards to tie the franchise-high nine game win streak. The nine game win streak was also the longest for Collins as a head coach. The Wizards entered the month with a 5-10 record and finished 2001 with a 16-14 record and in the Eastern Conference playoff hunt. This is the third time in Collins' coaching career that he was recognized with this award, having also received it in November 1987 with Chicago and in February 1997 with Detroit.

HAMILTON NAMED NBA PLAYER OF THE WEEK: Richard Hamilton was named NBA Player of the Week along with Dallas' Steve Nash for the week that ended on December 16th. Hamilton averaged 28.5 points in the Wizards' four wins that week while shooting .552 percent from the floor. Included in Hamilton's award winning week was a season high 34 points and seven assists vs. New York (12/14) and 30 points at Memphis (12/11)

HAYWOOD NAMED ROOKIE OF THE MONTH: Brendan Haywood was the second member of the Wizards to be honored by the league in December, being named the NBA Rookie of the Month along with Shane Battier of Memphis. Haywood came off the bench in all 15 game during December and averaged 7.9 points, 7.9 rebounds, and 2.2 blocks shots per game. Among Haywood's December highlights include 17 points and 15 rebounds at Memphis (12/11), 19 points and seven rebounds at Dallas (12/8), and seven blocked shots vs. Atlanta (12/19), tying the MCI record held by Jahidi White and Alonzo Mourning.

DECEMBER MAGIC: The Wizards finished 11-4 in December , equaling the best December in franchise history. Washington first posted an 11-4 December in the 1968-69 season. The Wizards also went 11-5 in December in the 1997-98 season. Washington set the record for road wins in December with six. The Wizards went 2-13 last December, the worst December in franchise history, and are 280-298 overall in December games.

OWNING A PIECE OF HISTORY: The Wizards had their franchise-high nine-game winning streak snapped in Charlotte on December 26. This was the fourth time in franchise history that the Wizards have won nine consecutive games. The other nine games win streaks in franchise history were recorded by the Washington Bullets from November 14 to December 1, 1978, and by the Baltimore Bullets from December 4-25, 1968, and November 9-27, 1969. The Wizards won six of the nine games during the streak on the road, the most road wins during any of the nine game winning streaks. The '78 team won five of their nine on the road as did the '69 squad. The initial team to set the record in 1968 won three of their nine games on the road.

THREE-POINT WIZARD: Chris Whitney hit his 411th three-pointer in a Washington uniform in the first quarter vs. Phoenix (1/26), giving him the franchise record for most three-point field goals. Whitney tied the previous leader, Tracy Murray, when he hit his 410th three-pointer vs. Cleveland on January 24.

RECORD NIGHT ON THE BOARDS: The Wizards set the MCI record for team rebounds in a game with 62 vs. New Jersey on December 31, breaking the old mark of 59, set by the Miami Heat on December 17, 1997. The Wizards also broke the record for rebounds in a quarter with 21 in the 4th quarter, breaking the old mark of 19, set on December 4, 1997 vs. Sacramento. The Wizards had four players record double-figures in rebounds, led by Popeye Jones' 14 boards and Brendan Haywood's 13.

EDUCATION AID FOR VICTIMS: The Wizards announced the development of Washington Sports and Entertainment's Education Fund at halftime of the intra-squad scrimmage at MCI Center on Tuesday, October 16th. The fund will serve to benefit children who lost a parent or guardian in the Pentagon tragedy on September 11th. Abe Pollin, Chairman of Washington Sports and Entertainment and the Washington Wizards, made the first donation of $100,000, along with his wife Irene. Michael Jordan matched the Pollins' contribution as a part of his pledge to donate his 2001-2002 Wizards salary to the relief efforts. This fund will be managed by the Citizens' Scholarship Foundation, the nation's largest nonprofit administration of private scholarship programs.

A Season Unlike Any Other

At the beginning of the Washington Mystics 2002 season, many fans might have thought, "This will be a season unlike any other." At the time, they probably had no idea that thought would play out in so many different ways. The story of the 2002 Mystics season had all of the unbelievable moments, incredible feelings and inspirational characters to script one of the most powerful seasons in WNBA history...and it did.

It seems fitting that the season during which the Mystics celebrated its fifth anniversary in the WNBA, would provide so much evidence to the success of this team and the dedication of Washington, D.C. to women's basketball. Proof to this began when the Mystics recruited two of the most recognizable names in women's basketball. In April of 2002, Pat Summitt was named Player Personnel Consultant for the Mystics, and Marianne Stanley was named head coach. The hiring of two Hall of Famers tipped off the series of events that would make up one of the most successful and history-making seasons in Washington, D.C. basketball.

Summitt and Stanley were not the only new people in town that would bring energy to the team. With two first round picks, Washington picked up some fresh talent during the 2002 WNBA Draft in Stacey Dales-Schuman (third pick overall from Oklahoma) and Asjha Jones (fourth pick overall from Connecticut). With the addition of Dales-Schuman and Jones, returning veterans such as Chamique Holdsclaw, Murriel Page and Vicky Bullett and tremendous young talent in Coco Miller, Helen Luz and Tonya Washington, the Mystics improved its versatility and depth.

With Stanley at the helm, the Mystics played a season of tremendous ups and downs. In just 32 regular season games, the Mystics recorded the longest home winning streak in team-history (nine games). The Mystics also sat at the top of the Eastern Conference standings for nearly the entire season and advanced to the Eastern Conference Finals for the first time in team history. Unfortunately, injuries and loss also faced the Mystics.

Through all of the highs and lows, the Mystics persevered and finished the season with the best regular season record in team history (17-15, also the team's first winning record). The Mystics hard work was recognized as the team received the most post-season awards: Stanley was named Coach of the Year; with a tremendous sophomore year, Miller received Most Improved Player honors; Holdsclaw won the Bud Light Award for leading scorer and rebounder in the league and, for the fourth time in the Mystics five-year history, the team won the WNBA Attendance Championship.

The Mystics' fourth attendance title illustrates a year that the team was successful both on and off the court. During the 2002 season, the Mystics averaged 16,202 fans per game, setting a new WNBA record. Not only did the Mystics fans turn out in incredible numbers but with incredible spirit as well. This spirit, legendary in the world of professional sports, is what made yet another Mystics dream a reality this season as Washington hosted the 2002 WNBA All-Star Game. With a sell-out crowd, record attendance at the Summer Jam Fan Festival and the finest talent in the WNBA assembled in Washington, the 2002 All-Star Game was widely proclaimed the best one yet.

The Mystics look forward to another monumental season in 2003 as the team continues to build and nurture its talent and provide its loyal fans with an incomparable experience.
